

Gerontology Certificate

Gerontology is the study of the social, psychological, cognitive and biological aspects of aging. The gerontology certificate will provide students with knowledge and skills for working with older adults and their families through a series of courses specifically focused on aging issues.

The majority of gerontology courses are offered online as gerontology courses and the opportunity to earn a gerontology certificate is available to any undergraduate student enrolled at Montana State University who is interested in working with older adults and their families.

The online gerontology certificate program is housed within the Department of Human Development and Community Health. To complete the online gerontology certificate students will need to complete 1 required course and 4 elective courses (12 credits) for a total of 15 credits with earned grades of "C" or higher to fulfill certificate requirements.

Required Courses

CHTH 245	Physical Activity, Nutrition and Health in Aging	3
Choose four of the following:		12
CHTH 325	Leadership & Public Policies in Aging
CHTH 405	Caregiving & Aging Families
CHTH 430	Mental Health & Social Issues in Aging
HDFS 261	Adult Development and Aging
HDFS 461	Principles Wellbeing in Aging
Total Credits:		15